CHUCK TANNER
Field Manager

Chuck Tanner, 44, had a frustrating season to sustain last year as his first place team went from atop the West Division to fifth place due to 38 injuries, including several key ones. He never lost his high stature of leadership, however, and went about his way attempting to prepare the many young rookies, he was forced to use, for the 1974 season. The youngsters responded well to Tanner and his coaching staff; therefore, the Sox will be able to enter the 1974 campaign with some bench strength with some major league experience. The addition of the talented veteran third baseman Ron Santo to the team from the Cubs will be big boost that will take some of the load off Tanner and his veteran infielders, Bill Melton and Dick Allen. One of Tanner's greatest assets is his ability to learn his players and utilize their skills as best suits the team. He gets the most out of his players as was most obviously proven in 1971 when he led the worst team in baseball (106 losses in 1970) to a third place finish in his rookie season. Finishing with the second-best won-lost percentage in 1972, he earned two major awards: Major League Manager of the Year by The Sporting News and American League Manager of the Year by The Associated Press. There is little doubt in any expert's mind that Chuck Tanner will become the most successful manager in White Sox history. He began building his 27-year professional baseball background in 1946 after earning 10 letters in baseball, basketball, and football at Shenango High in New Castle, Pa. He was captain of the latter two sports in his senior year. After American Legion ball he was signed to a pro contract by Jack Reider of the Boston Braves. He was named on the 1949 Western League All-Star Team and led the league in hits (195) in 1950. The next year he hit safely in 29 consecutive games for Atlanta in the Southern Association. As a rookie with Milwaukee Braves in 1955 he became the second player in major league history to hit a home run on the first pitch in his first time at bat. He was Milwaukee's Rookie Player of the Year that year and in 1959 he led American Association in doubles (41) and was named to the All-Star Team. In 1968 he was voted Texas League Manager of Year and 1970 Co-Manager of Year in the Pacific Coast League.

JOHN SAIN
Pitching Coach

John Sain, 55, for the 13th time in 12 years of coaching pitchers in the major leagues, has produced a 20-game winner. Wilbur Wood posted 24 wins, most in the majors, and Stan Bahnsen (18-game winner) would have undoubtedly made the coveted group in 1973 except for the 38 injuries sustained by the team. Both players made the 20-plus club in 1972. As a pitcher in his playing days, Sain equalled or topped the 20 mark four times with the Boston Braves. In 17 years as a professional pitcher, he posted a .500-plus won-loss percentage 12 seasons. He pitched in four World Series (2-2, 2.64) and two All-Star Games. He was named NL's

(Sain Cont'd)

Top Pitcher of the Year in 1948 when he led the league with 24 victories. In an exhibition game in 1943, John was the last man to pitch to the famous Sultan of Swat, Babe Ruth. Another highlight in John's baseball career came in 1947 when he was the first major league pitcher to pitch to the first black player in the major leagues, Jackie Robinson. Sain also will be long remembered for his 1-0, four-hit victory over Bob Feller in the 1948 World Series opener in which the famous pickoff play involving Cleveland's Lou Boudreau and Boston's Phil Masi occurred. John's hobbies are auto mechanics and hunting.

AL MONCHAK
First Base Coach

Al Monchak, 54, joined the White Sox with Chuck Tanner in 1971. He is an excellent first base coach and an outstanding infield instructor. As a second baseman during his 18 years of professional baseball, he led the Longhorn League in putouts (402), assists (455) double plays (109) while playing with Odessa. In 1950, he led the same loop with 48 SB's, 450 PO's, 388 A's, 140 DP's, and a .969 fielding average. His best fielding average was recorded in 1955 when he led the Pony League with a .977. He has nine other league high marks in fielding during his brilliant minor league playing career. A serious injury in the minors and a lengthy brilliant tour of military duty in Europe during World War II curtailed the possibilities of an excellent major league playing career. He led the Longhorn and Tar Heel Leagues five consecutive years in assists and recorded the highest fielding average in four straight seasons. During 13 years as a minor league manager, his teams finished in first place four seasons.

JOE LONNETT
Third Base Coach

Joe Lonnett, 46, is beginning his fourth season as a member of the White Sox coaching staff. He is not only an adept signal relayer on the third base line but is affectionately regarded as the "best fielding third base coach in baseball" by sports scribes. He also is the team mentor for the catching corps. He spent four of his 16 years as a catcher with the Philadelphia Phillies. In the minor leagues, he led the Pony League catchers in 1948 with 79 assists while playing with Bradford. In 1950 he paced his peers in the Three-I League with 779 putouts and with a .985 fielding average. His hobby is photography.

JIM MAHONEY
Bullpen Coach

Jim Mahoney, 39, is beginning his third season as a White Sox coach. Tanner selected "Moe" to join his staff for his instructional ability and his ability to relate to the young players. Mahoney was an outstanding gloveman during his 16 years as a player at the shortstop and second base positions. For example, in his first full season as a professional, Jim led the Appalachian League shortstops in all defensive categories and in 1960 he led American Association shortstops while at Minneapolis in total chances (743), assists (507), and double plays (90). He also led the Appalachian League in runs scored (101) in 1954. During his major league career, Jim played with Boston (the original signers), Washington, Cleveland, and Houston. His hobbies are golf, swimming, and bowling.

GLEN ROSENBAUM
Batting Practice Pitcher & Coach

Glen joined the White Sox as a batting practice pitcher in 1968 after hurling in the Sox minor league system for 11 years. He was added to the coaching staff this season and will continue to chart the hitting and pitching of the Sox and its opponents. He lost only one game in four years of high school baseball and only 8 while wining 30 in his first two years of professional ball. He led Mississippi-Ohio Valley League in won-lost (15-3) percentage in 1955 with a .833. His 15-5 record in 1956 netted him a berth on the Three-I All Star Team.

PLAYERS

The following format has been used to precede each White Sox player's biographical sketch and career statistics:

LAST NAME, First Name Position
Height Weight Bats-Throws
Date of Birth Place of Birth

ACOSTA, Cy — RHP

5' 11" 165 R-R
Born 11/22/46 Sobero, Mex.

Cecilio Acosta (Miranda), for the second season in a row, recorded the lowest earned run average (2.23) on the team among the regulars. When Terry Forster was shifted to a starting slot, Cy became the Sox relief ace. Only Forster and Wood appeared in more games. Acosta, by winning 10 games and saving 18, was directly responsible in 28 of the Sox' 77 victories last season. He established an excellent hits-per-innings-pitched ratio by relinquishing only 66 hits in the 97 innings he hurled. Of the 48 trips he made to the mound in 1973, the opposition was unable to score an earned run off his pitching in 35 of them. From June 19 thru July 10, he toiled 11 straight games without allowing an ER. In his last 12 appearances, he was credited with the win in three, saved eight others, and had no decision in the other. Cy finished a team high of 42 games last season. Of the 24 earned runs he allowed, Kansas City and Milwaukee scored 13 of them; the other nine clubs, he held to a total of only 11 runs. He was an instant success after joining the White Sox during the middle of the 1972 season. Within 12 hours after his arrival, manager Chuck Tanner used him in the top of the ninth inning against New York before 51,904 fans with the Yankees leading 4-2. He held the Eastern Division opponents scoreless and teammate Dick Allen rewarded him with a 5-4 victory by hitting a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth. Cy continued to pitch scoreless ball for 10 consecutive innings, recording three victories and one save. He has a "hopping" fast ball, a good slider, and an excellent changeup. He was recommended by former Sox scout George Noga.

ALLEN, Dick — IF

5′ 11″ — 187 — R-R
Born 3/8/42 — Wampum, PA

Richard Anthony Allen is rated by his peers and manager Chuck Tanner as the greatest all-around player in baseball today. He can run, throw, field and hit with excellence. After playing in 98% of his team's games in 1971 and 1972 without injuries, he sustained a multiple fracture of the small bone in his left leg and was sidelined in over half the games last year. He had one of his better starts last season, batting .330, with three triples, 15 home runs, and 37 RBI's in the first third of the season to tie or lead the squad in every offensive category. He appeared well on his way to surpassing his nine-year career average of .299 batting average, 30 home runs, and 94 RBI's per season. He had taken up where he had left off in 1972 when he led the league in home runs (37), RBI's (113), slugging (.603), and bases on ball (99-tie with NY's Roy White). He not only led the team in batting (.308) but was third in the league bat race. He was almost an unanimous choice for the Most Valuable Player Award in the AL. His 1972 home run total, homers at home (27), homers in one month (13 in July), and most extra bases on long hits severed White Sox records. His exceptional speed is indicated by the 19 bases he stole in 1972 and seven of nine attempts in 1973. His many highlights include two inside-the-park home runs at (Minnesota 7/31/72). Last year, although he was unable to play because of the broken leg, was the seventh year he had been selected to play in the All-Star Game. Other notable achievements by Allen include: September 29, 1968, tied NL record for most walks in one game with five; Hit three home runs on September 29, 1968; Led NL with 352 total bases in 1964; Led NL third basemen with 29 double plays in 1965; Led NL with .632 slugging percentage in 1966; Led International League with 299 total bases in 1963. He was originally signed to a professional contract by John Ogden of the Philadelphia Phillies.

ALVARADO, Luis — IF

5′ 9″ — 170 — R-R
Born 1/15/49 — Lajas, P.R.

Luis Cesar Alvarado, nicknamed "Pimba", had his best year at the plate in 1973 despite the fact he was used sporadically as a utility infielder. His previous high was .224 with the Boston Red Sox in 1970. He also only struck out 20 times in 80 games (211 appearances) for only one strike out per 11 appearances. He also stole six of eight bases for a .750 percentile. Afield he only made nine errors while handling 287 chances and was in on 31 double plays. Luis has two of the fastest hands in professional baseball. The ball seems to bounce from his glove to his throwing hand as if on a string, he flicks it out so quickly. In 1967, his first season of professional baseball, he tied the Midwest League in double plays for shortstops with 60. With Louisville in 1969, he was voted the Most Valuable Player in the International League after leading the loop in hits (166), doubles (30), and runs scored (89). His best month last season was in August when he helped his team win 17 while losing only 10 by collecting 18 hits and driving in 15 runs while batting .277. Of the four home runs he hit last season, one was inside the park. His hobby is reading comics. He was originally signed by Boston Scout Pedro Vazquez.

BAHNSEN, Stan — RHP

6′ 2″ — 203 — R-R
Born 12/15/44 — Council Bluffs, IA

Stanley Raymond Bahnsen reached double figures in wins in 1973 for the fifth time of his six major league seasons. Without the unusually high number of injuries (38) sustained by the White Sox in 1973, he undoubtedly would have recorded his second straight 20-win-plus season. The season was not only his busiest (282⅓ innings pitched), but he had more starts (42) than any time in his professional career. The latter tied him with Detroit's Mickey Lolich for runner-up for most starts in the American League behind Chicago's Wilbur Wood (48). Bahnsen hurled four shut-outs in 1973; only three AL pitchers had more (Blyleven (9), Perry (7), and Palmer (6). One of Stan's shut-outs was a 4-0, one-hitter against Cleveland (8/21). He had two outs in the ninth inning when ex-teammate Walt Williams, a frequent bunter, bounced a grounder past indrawn Bill Melton at third base for a scratch single to spoil Bahnsen's no-hitter. He also hurled an unusual 12-hit shut-out to defeat Oakland, 2-0 (6/21). His others were 4-hitters against Minnesota (6-0 on 9/5) and Boston (5-0 on 7/17). Stan (6 IP, 6H) also teamed with reliefer Terry Forster (3 IP, 1 H) to shut-out New York (5-0 on 5/4). Bahnsen also hurled several low-hit games which were not shut-outs defeating California 6-2 (5/22) with a 3-hitter and sharing a 4-hitter (8 IP, 3H) with Forster (1 IP, 1 H) to down New York 4-2 (7/22). Bahnsen recorded a 4-0 won-lost record against his old teammates (New York) last season and continued his mastery over California by winning 3, losing only 1, for a career mark versus the Angels of 16-4. In the minor leagues he pitched a 1-0, no-hit victory against Richmond on July 17, 1966, and an 8-0 perfect game against Buffalo on July 9, 1967 .(both were seven-inning contests). He began his major league career with New York in 1966 by striking out the side at Boston in the first inning of his major league debut on the mound. In 1968, his first full season, he won 17 games and posted an excellent 2.06 earned run average to win Rookie of the Year recognition. He studied Business Administration at the University of Nebraska before signing a pro pact with Yankee's Joe McDermott. His hobbies are golf, billiards, sketching, trailriding and fishing.

BRADFORD, Buddy — OF

5' 11" — 195 — R-R

Born 7/25/44 — Mobile, AL

Charles William Bradford is a complete ballplayer. He can hit with power, has a wide range in centerfield, can throw with the best of them, and is an excellent baserunner with speed to spare. He hit a composite of 22 home runs last season at Iowa (14) and Chicago (8) in only 117 games. Seven of the latter came in the month of July (7th month of year); the month of his birth. He also drove in seven winning runs, scored seven winning runs, and threw out seven runners from his outfield position during July. Needless to say, they all were team highs for the month. "Buddy," as his teammates call him, ended the season tied for second in winning runs scored (9) and driven in (8), and he tied Bill Sharp for the most outfield assists on the team (10) despite the fact he only played in one third of the total season games. In April 1959, Buddy made a permanent mark in the annals of White Sox history when he became one of 15 players to hit a home run on-or-over the double-deck roof of White Sox Park. The first player to accomplish this mighty feat was Babe Ruth in 1927. The last was Dick Allen on May 1, 1973. At Sarasota in 1963 he led the Gulf Coast League outfielders in assists with 25 and the next season at Tidewater of the Carolina League he paced all outfielders in putouts (247) and tied for the most assists (19). As a prep star he hit .333 and was clocked at 9.7 in the 100-yard dash at San Fernando (Calif.) High. He also broad-jumped and ran 220-yard dash in track in addition to playing baseball and football (Most Outstanding Back). He studied Physical Education at Pierce College

BRINKMAN, Chuck C

6' 1" 185 R-R

Born 9/16/44 Cincinnati, OH

Charles Ernest Brinkman has one of the finest arms of any catcher in the American League. He is also an excellent receiver as proven by the fact he only has made six errors in the past three seasons. This past season he displayed astuteness in catching the elusive knuckleball thrown by Wilbur Wood. His ability to advise young Sox pitchers in the bullpen has helped pitching coach John Sain produce one of the finest relief corps in the league. Chuck played in more games (63) last season than any other major league campaign. He hit 26 points over his career average last season and hit his first major league home run to win a ball game on May 22. Despite his limited play, he was so successful in bunting that he tied for the team high in sacrifice hits (11) with teammate Eddie Leon. His affirmative attitude and personality added to his physical abilities and knowledge behind the plate make him a definite asset to any team. Chuck was Captain and Most Valuable Player in basketball and Captain on the baseball team at Western Hills High in Cincinnati. He has a BS Degree in Education from Ohio State where he was Captain of the baseball team, made 2nd Team All-American, and played two years on the All-College World Series Team. Chuck's brother, Eddie, plays shortstop for the Detroit Tigers. Among Chuck's hobbies are bowling and golf. Chuck was signed by scout Fred Shaffer.

DENT, Bucky — IF

5′ 9″ — 170 — R-R
Born 11/25/51 — Savannah, GA

Russell Earl Dent was one of several rookies in the Sox minor league system who got an early chance to display his wares in the big leagues last season due to numerous injuries on the major league team. Bucky proved that his minor league performance and the recommendations of Sox scouts and minor league managers were correct: He does possess the abilities to become a major league shortstop. He showed range, agility, and a fine throwing arm. Used regularly in the second half of the season, Dent handled 101 fielding opportunities without an error between June 13 and September 8 producing a total of 18 straight errorless games. No other Sox infielder can boast of such a streak in the 1973 season. In one game (September 28), Bucky made eight assists. In another he made seven and in five others was credited with six assists. He only made six errors while handling 191 total chances with the Sox for a .969 fielding average; excellent for a rookie shortstop. He also hit .248 for the best average of any Sox shortstop in 1973. Only Dick Allen (.326) hit better than Dent (.302) in night games last year. At Iowa, where he played most of the season (95 games), he batted .295. The season before at Knoxville, he hit .296 and was outstanding afield to gain a berth on the 1972 Southern League All-Star Team. He was voted the "Mr. Hustle" Award by Southern League Sports Writers Association. In 1971, while at Appleton, he led the Midwest League (Class A) in sacrifice bunts (12), and the league shortstops in games (80) and double plays (51). At N. Miami Dade Junior College he was an All-State & All-American at third base and shortstop. At Hialeah (Fla.) High, he played three seasons at third base where he gained All-City, All-County, and Player of the Year Honors. He also was All-City, All-County, All-State and Most Valuable Player as a tailback on the football team. His hobby is fishing. He was signed by scout Walt Widmayer.

DOWNING, Brian — C-IF-OF

5′ 10″ — 185 — R-R
Born 10/9/50 — Los Angeles, CA

Brian Jay Downing is one of the most versatile young athletes in the Sox system. He can not only catch, but play the outfield and infield as well. He is also one of the most aggressive players in the organization. He battles every ptcher at the plate and makes daring catches afield. In fact, his major debut was on defense at third base. The first pitch was a short pop foul on the rough warning track, apparently out of reach of any player. Downing, however, raced over and dived about 15 feet through the air to snag the ball just off the top of the turf. In doing so he severely bruised his leg and missed almost six weeks of play. When he returned to action, he hit an inside-the-park home run at Detroit on his third trip to the plate for his first major league hit. He always takes a healthy cut at the ball and has shown power at Iowa (7 homers in 68 games) of the American Association (Class AAA) and Knoxville (15 in 135) of the Southern League (Class AA). Downing played for Hermosillo in the Mexican Pacific Winter League. As a guard, Brian was the most valuable player and captain of a basketball team at Magnolia High in Anaheim, California. He also played tackle on a prep football squad, but only played one year of varsity baseball until he attended Cypress (Calif.) Junior College. He caught at the latter institution. In his Sox player questionnaire, he listed the thing that influenced his interest in baseball the most as attending the 1959 World Series (Sox vs. Dodgers) at Los Angeles. His hobby is music. He was signed by Sox scouts Doc Bennet and Bill Lentini.

EWING, Sam — 1B-OF

6' 3" — L-R

Born 4/9/49 — Lewisburg, TN

Samuel James Ewing, a fine hitter with power, will long remember his major league debut. He faced California's Nolan Ryan, who set a major league strikeout record last season, and Bill Singer, then Minnesota's Bert Blyleven—three of the toughest and hardest throwers in the league—in his first three games. Ryan fanned Sam four straight times and Blyleven twice before Ewing got to face an "average" major league pitcher. No other pitcher got a third strike past him the rest of the season, however, as Sam settled down to prove he could hit big league stuff before the season ended his brief trip. At Iowa, he was one of the key players in that club's Eastern Division triumph in the American Association (Class AAA). There, in 123 games, Sam not only batted .292, but slammed 12 home runs, 30 doubles and drove in 75 runs with a .450 slugging percentage. He started off his professional career with a bang, batting .363 to pace the Midwest League (Class A) hitters although he fell 40 appearances shy of qualifying for the batting title. He also was runner-up in the Florida Winter Instructional League batting race that year with a .336 mark. Sam was an All-American outfielder at the University of Tennessee and was captain and All-City at John Overton High in Nashville, Tenn., where he lettered four years in baseball, three as a center in basketball, and three as a halfback (& captain) in football. His hobbies are golf and painting. He was signed to a pro contract by Sox scouts Bennie Huffman and Steve Vrablik.

FORSTER, Terry — LHP

6′ 3″ — 215 — L-L
Born 1/14/52 — Sioux Falls, SD

Terry Jay Forster throws one of the hardest fastballs in the major leagues. It is one of the main reasons he was able to make the majors with only 10 games of minor league experience. He began his big league experience as a relief pitcher for the White Sox in 1971 and quickly gained the status as the ace of the bullpen. For example, in 1972 he saved 29 games to sever the previous club record of 27 set by Hoyt Wilhelm in 1964. During this sophomore campaign, he pitched a total of 100 innings without allowing a home run. Spanning his rookie, sophomore, and junior seasons, Forster hurled a total of 138⅓ consecutive innings without permitting a home run. This is believed to be a major league first, although records of this nature are not maintained. In 1973, he saved 16 games and finished 29 as a reliefer before he was inserted into the starting rotation on August 9, where he remained the rest of the season. Terry was second among league pitchers to Clyde Wright, then with California, by starting eight double plays. His ERA ranked 10th in the American League last season and now gives him a 3.04 career ERA for three seasons in the majors. Forster allowed only seven home runs last season for an average of only 0.36 homers per-9-innings pitched. This average was lower than any other pitcher in the league. His clutch pitching was superb for the second year in a row. In 1973, only 27.4 percent of base runners were able to score on Forster. Only Baltimore's Jim Palmer, the Cy Young Award winner, possessed a lower figure (25.2%) in the American League. As a prepster, he was selected All-League, Most Valuable, and CIF Player of the Year while playing baseball four years at Santana High in Santee, Calif., and All-League while lettering three years in basketball. In high school, Terry played against Bill Walton, who was to become UCLA's great center. Forster also attended Grossmont College in El Cajon, Calif. His hobbies are music, painting and golf. He was the Sox number two draft choice in 1970 after being recommended by scouts George Noga, Jack Keilch, Doc Bennett, and Gary Johnson.

GEDDES, Jim — RHP

6′ 2″ — 195 — R-R
Born 3/23/49 — Columbus, OH

James Lee Geddes got his second taste of major league baseball last year and proved manager Chuck Tanner was justified in his rapid promotion to the big leagues. In 15⅔ innings, he posted a 2.87 ERA (3rd best on team) and struck out seven. He made his first trip to the majors in 1972 after only one partial season (28 games) of minor league pitching. At Pleasant View (Ohio) High School he was an All-State infielder and was an All-State guard on the basketball team. While acquiring a BA degree in Business Administration (Marketing) at Ohio State University, Jim switched to pitching and also played on the varsity basketball team. He is a quiet, clean-cut young man who works hard to attain the goals set for him by Tanner and pitching coach John Sain. He was originally signed to a pro contract by Sox scout Fred Shaffer.

GOSSAGE, Rich — RHP

6' 3" — 190 — R-R

Born 7/5/51 Colorado Springs, CO

Richard Michael Gossage was elevated to the major leagues in 1972 after only 238 innings of rookie and Class A minor league participation. During this brief period, he won 18 while losing only 5 and etched a 2.45 earned run average. He also struck out 191 during this period. Displaying a blazing fast ball, he was put on the major league squad in 1972 and performed admirably by recording a 7-1 record as a long range reliefer. In fact, the only game he lost was the 1972 season finale which he started. If this game was deleted from his season statistics, Gossage would have had a season ERA of 3.39. In 1973, he was slow getting into his groove and was optioned to the Sox triple-A affiliate twice before he returned to his prior form. At Iowa (he was 5-4 with a 3.66 ERA and gave up only 59 hits while fanning 66 in 71⅓ innings), "The Goose," as his teammates call him, was the finishing pitcher on one 3-hit game and one 4-hit game. When he returned to the Sox in early September, he hurled 13 innings and allowed only eight hits, four runs while striking out eight for a 2.77 ERA finishing pace. In his first full season at Appleton (1971), he recorded an 18-2 record with an outstanding 1.83 ERA. He also struck out 149 batters while walking only 50 and relinquishing only 141 hits in 187 innings. This super performance gained him an award as Midwest Minor League Player of the Year. Rich's quickness on the mound also enabled him to lead the Midwest pitchers in assists (48) and double plays (5). During the 1971 Florida Winter Instructional League, he permitted only four runs in 56 innings for a brilliant 0.64 ERA to aid the White Sox contingent in winning its second straight league championship. He was captain and made the prep All-League Team in basketball as well as baseball while playing at Wasson High in Colorado Springs, Colorado. He also attended Southern Colo. State College. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. He was signed by scout Bill Kimball.

HAIRSTON, Jerry — OF-IF

5′ 10″ — 170 — S-R
Born 2/16/52 — Birmingham, AL

Jerry Wayne Hairston became the first son of a former White Sox black player to make the White Sox major league roster. Jerry's father, Sam Hairston, was a catcher for the White Sox briefly in 1951. Last year was a banner year for the Hairstons. Jerry had been selected as the American Association's Player of the Month in July and was hitting .347 when elevated to the majors. His dad, now a scout and minor league instructor, was named recipient of the first annual Glen Miller Award as White Sox Man of the Year. Jerry was consistent throughout his two and one half months with the Sox. He batted .280 in July, .273 in August, and .268 in September for his .271 rookie season average. Of the regulars, Jerry displayed an ability to get on base 38.2 percent of the time. Only Dick Allen's 39.6 was higher on the team. He advanced runners 27.5 percent of his opportunities which was third best on the entire team (May 29.8%, Kelly 27.9%). He had 50 opportunities to hit into a doublepay, but did so only twice. He was one of two players on the squad collecting more walks than strikeouts (Melton 75 W's, 66 K's; Hairston 33 W's, 30 K's). In 1972, he tied for Southern League lead with nine triples. In 1971, he led the Midwest League second basemen in games (121), putouts (260), assists (333), and double plays (77). Jerry led 1970 Gulf Coast League second basemen in games (55). He was selected to Topps Rookie East All-Star Team and 1970 Gulf Coast All-Star Team. At New Castle and Gardendale High Schools he was an all-star shortstop and captain of his team. He studied business administration at Lawson State Junior College. His hobbies are music and travel cars. His favorite spectator sport is auto racing. He was signed by Sox scouts Sam Hairston and Walt Widmayer.

HENDERSON, Ken — OF

6′ 3″ — 190 — S-R
Born 6/15/46 — Manning, IA

Kenneth Joseph Henderson is one of the most proficient, polished players in baseball. He does everything smoothly—fielding, throwing, running, or swinging the bat from either side of the plate. He only played in less than half of the games last season, and half of those were played with an injured leg. He finally sat out the rest of the season while submitting to surgery on his right knee. Before the injury (May 25), he was batting .311 and had a .338 in May to pace the entire team. His best season at the plate in the major leagues was in 1970 when he hit .294, including 17 home runs and 88 runs-batted-in while with San Francisco. His best home run total was 18 in his last season with the Giants (1972). Ken was a standout in football and basketball as well as baseball at Clairemont High in San Diego where he played against Sox Catcher Ed Herrmann. He gained three letters in each; was All-League and Captain of the cage unit; and All-City, All-Southern California, and All-CIF on the baseball squad. His father is a scout for the Giants. Ken received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Army Reserve in 1971. His hobbies are golf and tennis. He was originally signed by Giants' George Genovese.

HERRMANN, Ed — C

6' 1" — 210 — L-R

Born 8/27/46 — San Diego, CA

Edward Martin Herrmann is sometimes called "Sup-Herrmann" by his teammates, but is more often called "Fort Herrmann" by the news media and fans for his ability to block the plate. Several times last season, he literally stopped the oncharging runner with his strong frame, then caught the ball and made the tag for the out. He hit 10 home runs last season to reach the double figures for the fourth consecutive year. He is also fearless at the plate; leading the team in being hit by pitched balls last season (7). Ed led the American League in intentional walks with 19 in 1972 and tied the major league record for the most double plays by a catcher in nine innings when he threw out three runners after catching a third strike on July 4, 1972. His greatest asset to the team, however, is his ability to catch the most dreaded pitch of any catcher . . . the knuckleball. Wilbur Wood, the greatest knuckleball pitcher in baseball, pitched over 359 innings last season and Herrmann caught over 90% of these innings. In 1967, at Evansville of the Southern League, he led all catchers in putouts (693), assists (65), and fielding average (.990). At Crawford High in San Diego, Ed was team captain, Player of the Year, All-CIF, and led league in home runs and RBI's. He also was All-CIF after lettering three years in football as a guard and middle-linebacker. His hobbies are building cars and hunting. He was recommended to the Sox by the late scout Hollis Thurston.

JETER, John — OF

6' 2" — 186 — R-R

Born 10/24/44 — East Point, LA

John "The Jet" Jeter is one of the fastest ball players in the major leagues. He also has a strong throwing arm which allows manager Chuck Tanner to use him in any outfield position. He got off to a good start in 1973 by hitting .333 in May. His next best month was August when he batted .274. John hit .385 against Detroit last season and .362 against Kansas City. He played winter ball at LaGuaira in the Venezuela League. He pilfered 40 bases at Gastonia of the West Carolina League in 1967 for the league high. He also stole 38 in 1968 at Salem and 36 in 1971 at Charleston of the International League. John hits with power as indicated by his home run totals of 25 in 1969 at Columbus, several seasons of 18, and 17 with Charleston where he hit .324. As a centerfielder, he led the Appalacian League in triples (8), and hits (88) in 68 games in 1964; the West Carolina League in triples (9), HR's (18), putouts (258) in 1967; the Carolina League in hits (156) and putouts (315). His total assists reached the double figures in three seasons (13 tied for league lead in '65, 12 in '68, and 16 in 1971). He was All-State in football and baseball at Charlotte Mitchell High and played two years at Grambling where he was studying for a degree in recreation education. His hobbies are Karate, music, and reading. He was originally signed by Bob Zuk for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

JOHNSON, Bart — RHP

6′ 5″ — 215 — R-R
Born 1/3/50 — Torrance, CA

This should be Clair Barth Johnson's year. Last year he was used sparingly while recovering from a knee operation between seasons. He pitched last fall in the Florida Winter Instructional League and helped the Sarasota White Sox win its third straight championship with a 2-0 record and allowing no walks in 12 innings. In 1971, prior to injuring his knee playing basketball, he won 12 games for the Sox and posted a fine 2.93 earned run average (11th in American League). If he returns to his 1971 form as expected, he will be a strong contender for one of the starting berths or the prime long-range reliefer. In 1969, he led the Midwest League with 200 strikeouts. Bart was an All-Southern California infielder-pitcher and an All-American basketball player at Torrance High. Many felt he could have played professional basketball if he had pursued the sport through college. He did play one season while attending Brigham Young University, but signed a professional baseball contract with George Noga and Doc Bennett, two Sox scouts.

JOHNSON, Lamar — IF

6′ 2″ — 207 — R-R
Born 9/2/50 — Bessemer, AL

Lamar Johnson is one of the most powerful hitters of young rookies in the Sox organization. During the 1973 Florida Winter Instructional League play, he hit 11 home runs for Sarasota to not only lead the league but to set a loop record. Several of his blasts were estimated in the 450-500-foot category. He also batted .327 while playing 48 games in the winter circuit. During the 1973 regular season, Lamar belted 16 home runs, drove in 93 runs, and hit .293 for Knoxville. His RBI total was second in the Southern League (Class AA) and his batting average was fifth. In 1972 as an All-Star first baseman at Appleton, he led the Midwest League (Class A) in home runs (26), total bases (227), and RBI's (89) while batting .313. In 1971 with the same club, he paced the loop with 97 RBI's while hitting 18 home runs. In 1969, he led the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) with five sacrifice flies. Defensively, he led his respective league in double plays as a first baseman in 1973 (128), 1972 (78), and 1971 (98). At Wenonah High in Birmingham, Ala., Lamar played catcher for three years. He was captain of his football team as well as the baseball squad and made the All-Conference team in the former as a defensive end. He also attended Lawson State Junior College as a social science major. His hobbies are reading and music appreciation. He was signed by Sox scouts Sam Hairston and Walt Widmayer.

KAAT, Jim — LHP

6' 4" — 210 — L-L

Born 11/7/39 — Zeeland, MI

James Lee Kaat (pronounced "Cot") made a quick impression on the White Sox fans after joining the Sox from Minnesota on waivers in late August. In his first start as a Sox, he pitched a 3-hitter to defeat Detroit 4-1 (8/26). He won a total four of his last five decisions while with the Sox to finish with a 15-13 record to give him a .500-or-better season in 10 of his 12 full seasons as a major leaguer. "Kitty" or "Kitty Cat," as his teammates call him, is the winningest active lefthander in the American League and is tied with Detroit's RHP Jim Perry as the winningest active pitcher in the AL. Each has 194 career victories. Only Bob Gibson of St. Louis (237) and Juan Marichal of San Francisco (238) have more major league victories than Kaat and Perry. Gibson, with 13, is the only pitcher in the majors to record double-figures in victories in more consecutive years than Kaat's 12 straight. Kaat struck out 109 in 1973 to now rank 28th on the all-time list of strikeout kings of baseball with a career total of 1,867. Last season he passed such mound stalwarts as Jim Galvin, Hal Newhouser, Mike Welch, and Kid Nichols. Within range in 1974 are: Amos Rusie 1,953; Whitey Ford 1,956; Red Ruffing 1,987; and White Sox' own Billy Pierce 1,999, among others. Again in 1973, for the 12th consecutive season, his American League opponents have voted Jim on the All-Defensive team earning him the "Golden Glove Award" as the best-fielding pitcher in the league. He holds World Series records (series and 9-inning game) for most putouts by a pitcher (5) set October 7, 1965. Although the designated hitter rule will preclude him proving it, unless the Sox play in the World Series, he is a good hitting pitcher with power. His 14 career home runs are topped only by Gibson (24) and Cubs' Milt Pappas (20). He was named 1966 AL Pitcher of the Year when he recorded a 25-13 won-lost record and a 2.74 ERA. He pitched in the 1966 All-Star Game (no decision) and was a member of the 1962 AL squad but did not play. In 1966 he led league in wins (25), starts (41), and complete games (19). He tied for league lead in shutouts (5) in 1962 and led in starts (42) in 1965. He led Pioneer League with 2.99 ERA, 245 strikeouts, 223 IP, 30 starts, 5 shutouts, and tied for lead in complete games (15) in 1958. He attended Hope College, Holland, Mich. His hobbies are golf and music.

KELLY, Pat — OF

Born 7/4/44 — Philadelphia, PA

Harold Patrick Kelly reached a milestone in his career last year when he was chosen for the American League All-Star Team. Pat not only led the White Sox regulars in hitting last season but his .280 average was 25 points above his pre-1973 career average of .255. He also led the team in stolen bases (22) for the second year in a row. Pat hit 24 doubles and collected 65 walks to rank second only to Bill Melton on the team. Pat's five triples were second only to Jorge Orta's league runner-up total of 10. Pat, the team's lead-off hitter, reached base 37% of the time which was surpassed only by Dick Allen (40%) and Jerry Hairston (38%), both of whom played less than half as much as Kelly. Pat was also second on the team in the important category of advancing runners. Out of a total number of 686 possible bases he could have advanced runners, he advanced them 192 of these for a .279 average. May had a .298 for team high. Kelly had a torrid .486 batting average to lead the team in April. He also paced the squad in hitting against Oakland (.281), Baltimore (.333), Kansas City (.396), and Detroit (.349). In 1969, he stole 40 bases in 112 games at Kansas to fall only nine shy of the major league record for a rookie. One year earlier he had paced the Pacific Coast League by pilfering 38 bases for Denver in 108 games. In 1965, with the Wilson Club, he led the Carolina League outfielders with 296 putouts and the hitters with 119 walks. He was acclaimed Best Athlete of Year as a senior at Simon Gratz High in Philadelphia where he made All-Public honors in football, basketball, and baseball. He also pitched as a prepster. He has three brothers who all have excellent athletic backgrounds, including Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns. Pat attended Morgan State College in Baltimore and was a sergeant in the U.S. Army Reserve. He was acclaimed one of nine best dressers in Kansas City. His hobby is dancing. He signed his first baseball contract with Minnesota's Harry Gutilius.

LEON, Eddie — IF

6' 0" — R-R

Born 8/11/46 — Tucson, AZ

Eduardo Antonio Leon was the hottest bat on the team in June last season. He led all hitters with 31 hits in 96 at bats for a .323 average. Eddie, an excellent bunter and good hit-and-run batter, tied for the team high in sacrifice bunts (11) and grounded into double-plays only nine times in 81 opportunities. In 1970, playing regularly for Cleveland, he led the American League in sacrifice hits with 23. Against his old teammates last season, Eddie led the entire Sox team with a hefty .359 average. Oddly enough, Leon not only averaged .228 for the season, but hit .228 against righthanded pitchers and .228 against lefties. The first third of the season was Leon's best. In 50 games, he collected 45 hits in 163 at bats for a .276 average which was bested only by three teammates (Dick Allen, Pat Kelly and Ken Henderson). He has a bullet arm enabling him to make many fielding gems from the deep pocket between third and short. He is a graduate of Tucson High and possesses a BS Degree in Civil Engineering from U. of Arizona. He was a shortstop at both attaining All-City as a prep captain, and captain and All-American at UA. He led the latter to a Western Athletic Conference and NCAA District titles including a berth on the 1966 College World Series. He was also on the US team which participated in the World Amateur Baseball Tournament in Honolulu in 1966. In 1965 and 1966 he played semi-pro ball for Springfield, Central Illinois Collegiate League. In 1965 he hit .257 in 48 games, led shortstops in fielding, assists and double plays. In 1966 he batted .310 in 44 games, tied for league lead in doubles (12). His hobbies are golf, paddleball and tennis. He was originally signed by Bob Nieman, then with Cleveland.

MAY, Carlos — OF

Born 5/17/48 — Birmingham, AL

Carlos May must have regained power possessed before he lost most of his right thumb in a mortar accident with the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves in 1970. He had hit 18 home runs in only 100 games to win Rookie of the Year honors in 1969. Last season, he hit 20 (13 at Sox Park) home runs to tie Bill Melton for the team high and drove in 96 runs to lead his teammates in that department. Both were career highs for May. Carlos not only led the team by driving in the most winning runs (10), but he scored the most winning runs, as well (12). Carlos also led the team in ability to advance runners. Out of a possible 867 bases, he advanced them 259 for a 29.8 percentage. Tops as Chicago's DH, Carlos banged out 82 hits in 273 trips for a .307 average. May again led the Sox hitters against Texas pitching. He batted .419 against the Rangers in 1973 and .510 in 1972. May's best months last season were April (.328) and September (.359). He batted in 23 runs in August and 22 in September; the former was the team high for the year. He was a member of the 1972 American League All-Star Team. He was selected to 1967 Midwest League and 1968 Carolina League All-Star Teams and member of the Topps All Rookie Major League Team in 1969. While at Lynchburg in 1968, Carlos led the Carolina League with a .330 batting average. He is a graduate of A. H. Parker High School in Birmingham, Ala., and attended Southern University at Baton Rouge, La. His brother, Lee, plays with the Houston Astros of the National League. Carlos was signed by Sox scouts Sam Hairston and Walt Widmayer.

MC GLOTHLIN, Jim — RHP

6′ 1″ — 195 — R-R

Born 10/6/43 — Los Angeles, CA

James Milton McGlothlin was acquired from Cincinnati Reds in late August. His first appearance in a Sox uniform was on September 1 as a reliefer. Toiling against California, he pitched two innings of scoreless ball to help preserve a 7-5, White Sox victory. In his next outing, he pitched 4⅓ innings against Minnesota allowing only one hit while fanning seven batters. In 18⅓ innings for the Sox last season, he struck out 14 opponents. Next season will be his ninth in the major leagues. He started with the California Angels in 1965, but his first full season in the majors was in 1966. His best season was in 1967 with the Angels when he won 12 games, recorded a 2.97 ERA, and tied for the American League lead with six shutouts. He was traded with pitchers Vern Geishert and Pedro Borbon to Cincinnati for outfielder Alex Johnson and infielder Chico Ruis on November 25, 1969. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. His nicknames are "Red" and "Mac." He was originally signed by California Angeles scouts Bert Niehoff and Ross Gilhousen.

MELTON, Bill — IF

6' 1" — 195 — R-R

Born 7/7/45 — Gulfport, MS

William Edwin Melton made one of the most successful comebacks in White Sox history last season. After crumbling at second base in June of 1972 when a herniated disc interferred with the normal function of a major nerve trunk, he missed the remainder of the season. A season which followed his 1971 campaign of 33 home runs and his capture of the first American League Home Run Championship by a White Sox player. With his muscles inactive while confined to a hospital bed, he lost over 20 pounds while undergoing a generally unique operation in late 1972 which primarily consisted of injecting a special enzyme into the herniated disc to shrink it. With a tremendous amount of devotion and labor, he followed a slow process of physical therapy during the 1972-3 winter months to regain his pre-injury physical condition. In 1973 Spring Training, manager Chuck Tanner admiringly said, "Bill's bat is quicker than it ever was." Playing at a trim 187 most of the year, he hit less home runs, but batted .015 points over his pre-1973 lifetime average (.261) and struck out only 66 times in 643 appearances for the best contact frequency of any player on the team. Bill also led the team in games played (152), official at bats (561), runs (85), hits (155), doubles (29), home runs (20-tie with Carlos May), and bases on balls (75). Bill had a reached base frequency of .368 (only Allen .396 and Hairston .382 higher). Only five players in the American League hit more doubles than Bill. In other AL categories, he ranked 15th in runs scored, 13th in total bases (24), 15th in slugging percentage (.439), and 15th in RBI's (87). Although the fans selected the participants in the 1973 All-Star Game, including Brooks Robinson at third base, the league players in a separate poll chose Bill at the best thirdsacker in the circuit. Bill was a member of the 1971 A.L. All-Star Team, but did not play. Early in his major league career Bill proved he had power. On June 24, 1969, in first full major league season, Bill stroked three home runs in one game. He now has a career total of 118 home runs as a Sox to rank third among the all-time White Sox list behind Minnie Minoso (134) and Sherman Lollar (124). He needs only 17 four baggers to pass both this year. Although he did not play baseball until college, he lettered in football and basketball three seasons at Durante (Calif.) High. The late Sox scout Hollis Thurston, who has signed many outstanding Sox players, inked the plum of his scouting career when he signed Melton to a pro pact.

MORAN, Bill — RHP

6'4" — 210 — R-R

Born 9-26-50 — Portsmouth, VA

Carl William Moran was the only player drafted by the White Sox in the Major League Draft in December. The hard-throwing youngster pitched for Boston in a game against the White Sox Instructional league team last November. Not only did General Manager Roland Hemond and Manager Chuck Tanner watch him handcuff the league leading Sox team, but all the major scouts in the Sox organization viewed it also as it came during a break in the annual organization meetings at Sarasota. After being drafted, Moran was immediately added to the 40-man roster and will be given a chance at one of the berths on the 25-man squad this Spring. His 2.73 earned run average was third in the Carolina League (Class A) last season. In 1972, his 2.03 at Winter Haven was third in the Florida State League (Class A).

MUSER, Tony — IF

6' 2" — 190 — L-L

Born 8/1/47 — Los Angeles, CA

Anthony Joseph Muser had been used primarily as a late inning defensiveman and a designated hitter until first baseman Dick Allen was injured last season. In the latter category, Tony was runnerup the team as a DH with a .302 average. After playing regularly as Allen's replacement. Muser continued to get tougher at the plate. In fact, In his last 29 games, he hit safetly in 24 of them collecting 36 hits in 108 appearances for a .333 pace. In his last six games, he had 11 hits (including a double, two triples and a home run) and drove in 10 runs. His slugging percentage during that period was a phenominal .750. He is unbelievably consistent. He hit .285 in 1973, his lifetime career average in the major leagues is .285, and his professional baseball career average (spanning a total of 674 games and 2319 at bats) is .283. Last season, he ranked fourth on the team in ability to reach base safely. Of the 28 players who had an opportunity to drive in a winning run or score one during the season, Muser (3% of these) was directly responsible for 12% of the 77 winning runs scored by the Sox in 1973. Tony led the Sox hitters against two clubs last season by hitting .393 against California and .471 against Minnesota. His best months at the plate last year were May (.438) and September (.400). Dividing the season into thirds, he went .311, .246,, and .313. As a pinchhitter, Muser batted .444 (4-for-9) in 1973 and .333 in 1972 driving in two winning runs in 12 trips. Many scouts rate him as the best fielding first baseman in the American League. In 1970, he led his International League peers in fielding percentage (.992). At San Diego (Calif.) Mesa Junior College, he was named All-Pacific Southwest Coast's Most Valuable Player in 1967. He lettered three years in baseball and two years in football as a quarterback, attaining All-League and All-City at Lakewood (Calif.) High in the former. His hobby is fishing. He was first signed to a pro contract by Boston's Ray Boone.

ORTA, Jorge — IF

5' 10" — 170 — L-R

Born 11/26/50 — Mazatlan, Mex.

Jorge Orta (Nunez), called "George" by his teammates, is slowly learning the American League pitchers. Once he does, prophesies manager Chuck Tanner, he will become not only the best hitting second baseman in the American League (he was 5th in 1973) but the best in the majors. Jorge has only played two seasons in the United States, but half of his first year was in the major leagues. He has already learned much of the English language which was a big asset in the Sox coaches communicating to him in 1973 about the pitchers he would face each day. His 1973 intelligence reports bore out the progress he made. In the first third of the season, Jorge only hit .203. In the second third, he hit .278. In the final third, he rattled the opposing pitchers for a .313 average (second best on the team) and hit five homers and five triples. The latter gave him a total of 10 for the season which was second in the league only to Baltimore's Al Bumbry and Minnesota's Rod Carew who had 11 triples each. This accomplishment is indicative of the speed he possesses afoot. Although he only stole eight bases in 1973 due to a severe muscle bruise in collision at first base, his potential in that category is unlimited. During Spring Training in 1973, he actually beat out two routine grounders to shortstop for base hits. Jorge was the leading Sox hitter (.432) against Milwaukee pitching last year. In his last season in Mexico, he led the Mexican Center League in hitting (.423), triples (7), and slugging percentage (.709) while playing with San Luis Potosi. Later the same season (1971) with Mexicali in the Mexican North League, he batted .362. He is a resident of Torreon, Coah., Mexico, and was so proficient in prep basketball that UCLA offered him a scholarship. He was scouted and recommended by George Noga.

PERZANOWSKI, Stan — RHP

6′ 2″ — 170 — R-R
Born 8/25/50 — E. Chicago, IN

Stanley Perzanowski appears to be ready, or near ready, for the major leagues after his performance with the Iowa Oaks of the American Association (Class AAA) last year. He not only recorded a 14-8 won-lost record but his 3.68 earned run average was fifth in the league. He hurled one 1-hit game, two 2-hit games, and two 4-hit contests as he helped the Oaks win the Eastern Division Championship. He was the team leader in wins, strikeouts (124), and innings pitched (208). His best season, percentage wise, was in 1971 when he etched a 11-0 record at Asheville in the Southern League (Class AA) and 7-4 at Tucson in the Pacific League (Class AAA) for a combined 18-4 record and an .818 percentage. He was raised practically in the "shadow" of White Sox Park at Hammond, Ind., and East Chicago, Ind. He was graduated at Morton High in Hammond where he participated in cross country, track, and basketball as well as baseball. He also attended Anderson (Ind.) College. He was signed to a pro contract by Sox scout Charles Gault.

PITLOCK, Skip — LHP

6′3″ — 190 — L-L
Born 11/6/47 — Chicago, IL

Lee Patrick Pitlock was used primarily as a relief pitcher for the Iowa Oaks and was considered a definite asset in that team winning the Eastern Division Championship in the American Association (Class AAA). While his 8-8 record was .500, his hit ratio-per-innings-pitched was outstanding (only 117 hits in 130⅔ innings). He also struck out 117 opponents and was only one shy of an American Association record when he fanned seven in succession. He pitched the last half of the 1970 season with the San Francisco Giants as a starter. They sent him down to Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) to work on his control (48 walks in 87 IP). He steadily got more accurate (78 in 149 in 1971 & only 53 in 136 in 1972) at which time the Sox acquired him in a trade for pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and infielder Glen Redmon. His control is still steady (59 in 131) and with his hit ratio improved, he will definitely be given another shot at the White Sox major league club in 1974. Skip now resides in Park Forest, Ill. He was born in Chicago and raised in Elmhurst, Ill., where he was graduated at Immaculate Conception High. He also is a graduate of Southern Illinois University. He pitched for Lincoln in the Central Illinois Collegiate League in 1967 and 1968 with an 18-10 composite record. He was originally signed to a pro contract by San Francisco's Gene Thompson.

RICHARD, Lee — IF

6′ 0″ — 157 — S-R

Born 9/18/48 — Lafayette, LA

Lee Edward Richard has exceptional quickness and speed. To exploit these abilities, he spent many hours last season at Hawaii and Iowa working on hitting from the left side. Primarily a right-handed hitter, if he could develop a stroke from the left side, also, his value to the organization would multiply. Last season, with Bucky Dent playing shortstop at Iowa, Lee spent most of his defensive moments at second and third base; performing admirably at both slots. During the 1973 Florida Winter Instructional League at second base for the Sarasota White Sox, he not only was instrumental in the team leading the league in double plays (50) but he led the loop in stolen bases (31), averaging almost a SB per game. He has an outstanding throwing arm enabling him to play centerfield as well as shortstop. He was a pitcher and shortstop while playing four years at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., where he struck out so many opponents his teammates gave him the nickname "Bee-Bee." His accomplishments in college netted him All-American acclaim. At Lincoln High in Port Arthur, Texas, he also lettered four years in baseball and played one year as an end in football. His hobbies are music, dancing, and bowling. He was signed by Sox scouts Mel Preibisch, Steve Vrablik, and Sam Hairston.

NEW SAVE RULE

The Playing Rules Committee adopted a new "Save Rule" for relief pitchers effective in 1974. Under the new rule, a relief pitcher shall be credited with a save when, in entering the game, he finds the potential tying or winning run on base or at the plate or pitches at least three effective innings and, in either case, preserves the lead. When more than one relief pitcher qualifies for a save under the provisions of this rule, the save shall be credited to the relief pitcher judged by the scorer to have been the most effective. It is not mandatory to credit a save. Only one save can be credited in any game.

SANTO, Ron — IF

6'0" — 195 — R-R

Born 2/25/40 — Seattle, Wa.

Ronald Edward Santo has been the premier third baseman of the National League for many years before the White Sox acquired him in a 4-for-1 trade with the Chicago Cubs. He was named as a member of the NL All-Star Team for the past 10 years and has recorded a .333 batting average while participating in eight of the classics. He has been selected as the NL's best fielding third baseman by THE SPORTING NEWS five times (1964-68). He collected 143 more hits last season to boost his career total to 2,171 to rank 6th on the active major league career list. In doing so, he passed notable hitters such as Duke Snider, Dick Groat, Wally Moses, Yogi Berra, and Pee Wee Reese on the all-time career list. Next reason, Ron is virtually certain to pass former great stars such as Bill Terry (2,193), Stan Hack (2,193), and Joltin' Joe DiMaggio (2,214). Santo's 20 home runs in 1973 gives him a career total of 337 to rank him 26th on the all-time major league list pushing him above two famous sluggers, Hank Greenberg and Roy Sievers, last season. Within reach next season are Yogi Berra (358), Johnny Mize (359), and Joe DiMaggio (361). Only nine active major league players have have more career home runs than Santo As a guard of the plate, Ron led the NL on four occasions with 86 walks in 1964; 95 in 1966; 96 in 1967; and 96 in 1968. He also led the loop with 12 sacrifice flies in 1967. Defensively he has many records as a third baseman. He holds the major league record for most years (7) leading in assists and most consecutive years leading in assists (7,1962-68). He has tied several major league records: Most years leading league in games (7), most years leading league in changes accepted (8), and most years leading league in double plays (6). His NL records include: Most assists in one season (393 in 1967), most games played (164 in 1965), most career double plays (389), and he tied the NL record in 1969 for most years leading league in putouts (7). Ron's other career highlights include leading the NL third basemen in double plays with 41 in 1961, 31 in 1964, 36 in 1966, and 33 in 1967. He tied for lead with 33 in 1968. Ron hit two grand slam homers and drove in eight runs in a game against Montreal (July 6. 1970). His home run which earned him a membership in the 300-Home-Runs Club came on September 21, 1971, off one of the best pitchers in baseball today, Tom Seaver of the NY Mets. Ron spent much of his boyhood working in the ball park of Seattle's Pacific Coast League team. He is vice president of the Torco Oil Co,, which is based in Chicago, during the off season.

SHARP, Bill — OF

Born 1/18/50 — Lima, OH

William Howard Sharp was the most improved player on the White Sox team by the time the season had ended. The former Ohio State athlete only had 139 minor league games on his experience chart when numerous Sox injuries last season necessitated his rapid elevation. Naturally, he made a few mistakes at the beginning and did not quite measure up to being the bunter manager Chuck Tanner felt Bill was capable of being. Before the season was over, Sharp had not only corrected his minor discrepancies afield, but was bunting the ball on a dime. Defensively, his quick jump on a hit ball gave him the opportunity to not only transform sure doubles into singles but to make numerous sensational plays in deep centerfield. He robbed at least one batter of a home run and caught one ball inches off the top of the right centerfield wall in Sox Park to double a runner off first base. Although playing in only 76 games, he threw out a total of 10 base runners to tie Buddy Bradford for the team high in outfield assists. He hit .333 in May after joining the Sox. Then, .333 in July, and a hot .366 in September to lead Sox hitters in batting for that month. He grounded into double-plays only twice in 45 situations. Before joining the Sox, Bill was batting .276 at Iowa. He was an All-American centerfielder and captain of the team while playing two seasons at Ohio State where he was majoring in history. He also played quarterback and safety on OSU's football team. As a prepster at Lima (Ohio) High, he was a standout in all three major sports. He was captain of the baseball (CF-P) and football squads (QB) and made All-State in both, adding most valuable player honors in the Ohio All-Star Baseball Game. Bill was signed to a pro contract in 1971 by Fred Shaffer.

TORRES, Hector — IF

6′ 0″ — 175 — R-R
Born 9/16/45 — Monterrey, Mex.

Hector Epitacio Torres was acquired from the Houston Astros in a post-season trade. The veteran shortstop has played with Montreal, and the Chicago Cubs as well as the Astros. He has a total of six seasons in the majors, primarily as a utility infielder. His last full season was with the Houston Club in 1968 when he played in 128 games. He is an outstanding gloveman, and in 1964 he led the California League shortstops with 72 double-plays. He is the father of twin girls (Tiffany Lynn and Karissa Gayle) and the son of former minor league manager Epitacio (LaMala) Torres. His hobby is fishing. He was originally signed to a pro pact by Dave Garcia of the San Francisco Giants.

VARNEY, Pete — C

6′ 2″ — 215 — R-R
Born 4/10/49 — Roxbury, MA

Richard Fred Varney, Jr. is one of the few Harvard graduates to make the major leagues. And he made it fast. In fact, he only had 249 minor league games under his belt when he made the big jump to the big leagues in September. He has an ideal build for a catcher—big, strong, stocky—and has an excellent throwing arm. Pete also wields a powerful bat as indicated by his 18 home runs in 105 games while with Iowa in the American Association (Class AAA) last season. His ability to handle pitchers is confirmed by the fact the Iowa pitching staff proved to be the second best in the entire American Association. In 1972, while with Tucson, he led the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) catchers with a .989 fielding percentage. At Harvard, Pete was a catcher on the baseball team and a tight end on the football squad. Scholastically, he obtained BA and BS Degrees in history. As a prepster at Deerfield Academy in North Quincy, Mass., he lettered three years in football and basketball. He was signed to a pro pact by Sox scouts Grover "Deacon" Jones, Bennie Huffman, and Hugh Mulcahy.

WOOD, Wilbur — LHP

6' 0" 190 R-L

Born 10/22/41 Cambridge, MA

Wilbur Forrester Wood, Jr. was not only the winningest pitcher in the major leagues last season with 24 victories to his credit, but he started more games (48) and pitched more innings (359⅓) as well. Since becoming a starter in 1971, it was the third consecutive season Wood has surpassed the 20 mark in wins. He also won 24 in 1972 and 22 in 1971. This consecutive three-season total of 70 victories is the most by a White Sox pitcher since Ed Walsh's 72 total for 1910 (18), 1911 (27), and 1912 (27). No knuckleball pitcher in the history of major league baseball has won as many games as Wood did in either of his last three seasons. Primarily, because the knuckleball is so difficult to control. However, Wood is an exception. He is more accurate than a large majority of the non-knuckleball pitchers. In fact, in pitching a total of 1,070 innings the past three years, he walked only 227 batters for an exceptionally low average of only 1.91 walks per each nine innings. Wilbur caught eight of the 14 opponents picked off base by Sox pitchers last season. He was extremely tough in the first third of the season before a rash of 38 injuries hit the team, some of them sidelining key players for over half the season. For example, he won 13 of his first 16 decisions and completed nine of them while recording a sizzling 1.70 earned run average. Four of those victories were with only two days rest. His season totals with only two days rest were: 9-6 won-lost, 17 GS, 9 CG, 126⅓ IP, 131 H, 61 R, 50 ER, 27 BB, 82 SO, 3.56 ERA. Woody was chosen to play in his third straight All-Star Game in 1973, but was forced to decline due to illness in his immediate family. Wood holds the AL record for most games pitched (88 in 1968) when he won the AL Fireman of the Year Award. In 1972, he led the league pitchers in wins (24, tie with Gaylord Perry), games started (49), batters faced (1,384), assists (82), and total chances (95). It earned him AL Pitcher of the Year Award. He led the Pacific Coast League in complete games with 19 in 1964 and the International League in complete games (15) and shut-outs (8) in 1966. He lettered three years in football, hockey, and baseball at Belmont High in Lexington, Mass. His hobby is fishing. He was originally signed to a pro contract by Neil Mahoney of the Red Sox.

YANCY, Hugh — IF

5' 11" — 175 — R-R

Born 10/16/50 — Sarasota, FL

Hugh Yancy is developing into a solid, dependable hitter and fielder. He led the Iowa Club regulars with a .292 batting average, in runs scored (92), hits (156), and was runnerup for the Eastern Division champs of the American Association (Class AAA) in doubles (29) and stolen bases (12). His exciting performance at the plate and at second base gained him the MVP Award at Iowa in 1973. He also played second base for Estrella in the Dominican Republic Winter League. He also hit over .290 in 1972 while with Knoxville of the Southern League (Class AA) and stole his six-year professional career high of 41 bases. Although he played in only 66 games with Duluth-Superior in 1970, he paced the Northern League (Class A) with 22 stolen bases while hitting .333. He has always guarded the plate well, striking out only nine times in 182 at bats in his first year of pro ball (1968). In 1971 while playing for Asheville in the Southern League (Class AA), he fanned only 19 times in over 535 appearances for an average of only one strike out every 28 trips to the plate. In triple-A ball last season, where he faced some outstanding pitching, he struck out only 46 times in 606 appearances. He is a fine defensive infielder as substantiated by the fact he led the Southern League third basemen in 1971 in games (123), putouts (97), assists (274), and doubleplays (32). He played errorless ball during his three games at third base for the White Sox in 1972. He lettered four years as a shortstop at Sarasota High where he was elected captain and most valuable player. As a guard in basketball, he played on the Florida State All-Star Team for three years. His hobbies are fishing, dancing, and music appreciation. He was signed by Sox scout Walt Widmayer.

& WMAQ 67

Bill Mercer
WMAQ 67

Sox Radio-TV Team

Bill Mercer will join Caray for all 162 games over White Sox radio network on Chicago's most powerful station, WMAQ Radio 67. Mercer was the number one play-by-play announcer and broadcast supervisor on radio and television for the Texas Rangers in 1972 and 1973. He broadcast the Dallas Cowboys football games from 1965 to 1971 and taught radio, television, and journalism courses as an assistant professor of speech at North Texas State University.

Harry Caray and Bob Waller, who teamed on Chicago White Sox television in 1973 and helped increase ChiSox TV ratings as much as 70% over the previous year, will handle the TV announcing chores for the Sox in 1974. For Caray it will be his 29th season as a major league baseball announcer and his fourth season in the White Sox booth. Most of his career was spent with the St. Louis Cardinals. Waller who began his announcing career with the Washington Senators and the Cincinnati Reds, is beginning his second season with the White Sox. They will announce a total of 125 games over WSNS-TV, Channel 44, with WGN Continental Broadcasting Company handling production.
